STERIL-AIRE JOINS MADISON INDUSTRIES

Steril-Aire, a leading innovator of high performance ultraviolet-C (“UVC”) solutions for air and surface decontamination, is joining Madison Industries. Steril-Aire produces high energy germicidal UVC solutions that create a better and safer environment to live, work and breathe. “Madison Industries’ mission aligns perfectly with that of Steril-Aire – specifically, to make the world safer, healthier and more productive,” said Steril-Aire Chairman, Dr. Bob Scheir.

Steril-Aire CEO and co-founder, Eli Eisenberg stated, “Steril-Aire was founded as an entrepreneurial endeavor, Dr. Bob took our science to a new level and transformed the UVC industry. We are excited for this next chapter as our culture fits in well with Madison, which will allow us to continue to innovate for our customers.”

Steril-Aire is a customer focused addition to the Madison IAQ portfolio, making its suite of indoor air quality solutions one of the most comprehensive in the market (please see Madison IAQ’s full suite of solutions at www.indoorairhygiene.com). The passionate team at Steril-Aire will continue to create the groundbreaking products that enhance indoor air quality.
